

Publication of the National Service Committee of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal

PENTECOST Today

July/August/September 2007

See conference coverage
page 8

THE
HOLY SPIRIT HAS BEEN GIVEN!

Pentecost in family life p. 3

Bishop Sam Jacobs: Living the culture of Pentecost in society p. 4

The necessity of the Holy Spirit in the postmodern world p. 6

40th National Conference p. 8

Patti Mansfield on testifying to Jesus p. 10

School of Healing Prayer p. 11

Charisms and building community p.12

Renewing the grace of Pentecost in the life and mission of the church.

Chairman's Corner

by Aggie Neck

Rise up and be counted

“...the life I live now is not my own; Christ is living in me. I still live my human life, but it is a life of faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me. I will not treat God’s gracious gift as pointless”
(Gal. 2:20-21).

It has taken me awhile, but I do understand what St. Paul was expressing when he wrote these lines. To be living in the grace of Pentecost is a transforming journey. It calls us to strive to build a culture of Pentecost again, in this time in history. Building a culture of Pentecost means first of all that we ourselves live this culture.

The dictionary defines culture as “the integrated pattern of human knowledge, belief and behavior that depends upon man’s capacity for learning and transmitting knowledge to succeeding generations.” If we do not teach and pass on what we have come to know and believe as truth, then we will be held accountable for letting it die.

You and I have a foundation of faith today because of faithful ancestors who handed down the truths of the gospel and in some instances gave their life for it. This handing down of the faith goes back to the Apostles and disciples of Jesus. Each succeeding generation kept alive the basic elements of faith and it became a culture in the midst of a pagan world.

St. Augustine said the church is placed “amid the persecution of the world and the consolation of God.” We can certainly see this to be true in our day. There is a struggle to keep the message of the gospel alive in the face of a culture that is not spiritual and at enmity with God.

Today we see a slipping away of the foundation on which our faith was built. It is indeed time to shake off the drowsy state that veils the message of Pentecost. Shout it from the housetops, speak of it whether convenient or inconvenient, live it as if today could be the last day. We must not miss any opportunity to proclaim the message of hope. We must not sit by silently when all that is sacred and holy to us is defamed. Above all we must live fully and openly our charismatic culture of Pentecost. This means keeping the gifts alive, all of the gifts, and especially the gift of prophecy. It is necessary to hear the Lord.

“Let these words be in your own mind and heart, then you shall whet and sharpen them, so as to make them penetrate; and teach and impress them diligently upon the minds and hearts of your children. You shall talk of them when you sit in your house, and when you walk by the way, and when you lie down and when you rise up” (Deut. 6:6-9 Amplified Version).

To build this culture of Pentecost we must live it faithfully and hand it down to succeeding generations as the precious treasure that it is. Now is the time to rise up and be counted. This is indeed the season of the harvest. May God grant us the grace and zeal that will enable us to accomplish this task. ♦

Aggie Neck is Chairman of the National Service Committee.

Editor's Desk

by Sr. Martha Jean McGarry

“They were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and they spoke of the great things God had done” (Acts 2:4, 11).

This issue helps us to explore how we might live the grace and culture of Pentecost in our world today. Aggie Neck in her Chairman’s column gives us a clear understanding of what is meant by ‘living the grace and culture of Pentecost.’

Bishop Sam Jacobs points our attention to living this grace in our church and in society. Look for the key word “transformation” in his article. Brien and Debbie Bensel give us practical ways to live Pentecost in marriage and family life.

What’s missing in our ministry to youth? Long time youth minister, Jim Beckman believes he has the answer. See his article on page 6-7.

Looking for help in witnessing to the grace of Pentecost to others? Check out Patti Mansfield’s article which shows us a simple, but effective way to witness.

Fr. Don Gelpi, SJ in his article entitled Charisms and Building Community challenges us to a deeper understanding of the basics of community.

Do you want evidence of Pentecost alive today? The conference reports will set your feet a-dancing in the power of the Spirit.

As scripture tells in 2 Tim. 1, the Spirit of God is not a spirit of fear or timidity, but of boldness, power and love. The Spirit of God lives within us. May this issue teach us ways to set this Spirit free in our world! ♦

Cultivating Pentecost in family life

by Brien and Debbie Bensel

Each spring the Church in her wisdom gives us the opportunity to celebrate the glorious feast of Pentecost and rekindle the fire of the Holy Spirit in our lives. The grace of Pentecost is meant to transform our lives and our world, just as it did for those first followers of Christ. It often seems, however, that once we walk out the church doors, the culture of death, secularism, and materialism begin to bombard us, pulling our hearts and thoughts far from the power and grace of the Holy Spirit. How do we take hold of this unfathomable gift of love and power, and begin to cultivate a culture of life-giving Pentecost, which will bring our hearts, our families, and ultimately, our world, back into union with the very heart of God? Perhaps taking a closer look at the word “culture” may provide some insight.

Culture and cultivation come from the same Latin word cultura, meaning “to till the soil,” preparing it for a season of planting and growing. It is our responsibility to “till the soil” of our hearts and our homes in order to be prepared to receive the abundant harvest the Holy Spirit wants to reap in our lives. Cultivating a culture of Pentecost means going far beyond the celebration of a day or a season; it means living out a perpetual Pentecost, day by day, moment by moment being fully receptive to the voice and action of the Spirit.

Any gardener will tell you that tilling and preparing the soil is hard work. However, it is crucial to the harvest that will follow. The parable of the sower tells us that bad soil produces a poor crop but good soil will produce even a hundredfold! Here are some tips for ensuring a bountiful Holy Spirit harvest.

BREAK UP THE GROUND. Our hearts become hardened with the cares, worries, and frustrations of daily life. Only consistent, daily prayer can soften and break open the soil. It is vital to set aside a specific time each day for personal prayer, and a regular time for prayer with the whole family. We have found that simple intercessory prayer, the rosary and the Divine Mercy Chaplet work well with our children. Praying individually, and together as a family, helps to keep our hearts softened towards God and each other.

DIG OUT THE ROCKS. We frequently throw the rocks of resentment, unforgiveness and anger into the soil of our hearts and bury them, preventing the fruit of the Holy Spirit from taking root. Being quick to forgive and ask forgiveness rids the soil of rocks. Forgiveness is the heart of God, and he will freely give us the grace to forgive whenever we ask. Not just saying “I’m sorry” or “That’s OK,” but using the words “Please forgive me” and “I forgive you” will bring the grace of reconciliation into our homes. Once the rocks are gone, the fruit will grow!

PULL THE WEEDS. The weeds of sin when allowed to grow freely will crowd out the godly fruit we are trying to cultivate. Inviting the Holy Spirit to guide us through a daily examination of conscience will give us the wisdom to see where the weeds of life-choking sin are gaining a foothold. Applying the potent “weed-killer” of confession will uproot the sin, leaving the fruit and power of the Spirit to flourish in our lives. Going to the Sacrament of Reconciliation as a family can be especially grace-filled.

FERTILIZE THE SOIL. An “attitude of gratitude” produces rich soil indeed. The Holy Spirit, the Divine Gardener, searches for grateful hearts in which to sow the seeds of Pentecost. Refuse to allow negative thoughts and words to take root. Help each other focus on gratitude and together look for the positive. Some families find it helpful to have each person share three specific things they are grateful for about their day at the dinner table or at bedtime. Gratitude must be practiced until it becomes a habit. Then we’ll enjoy the sweet fruit of joy and peace.

WATER DAILY. Praise is to our souls as water is to a seed. It is the living water of praise that helps us to break through trials and difficulties, hardness of heart and selfish pride and desire, just as a well-watered seedling breaks out of its shell and through the soil to new life. Praising God in all things washes away fear, doubt and unbelief that prevent us from living fully in the power of the Holy Spirit.

As we daily prepare our hearts, we will find the fruit of the Spirit (Gal. 5:22) growing abundantly, our hearts opened to the gifts he freely bestows (Is. 11:2-3), and our lives filled with the grace and power of a true culture of Pentecost! Come, Holy Spirit! ♦

Brien and Debbie Bensel are members of the City of the Lord, a Catholic, charismatic community in Tempe, AZ.

Living the culture of Pentecost in society

by Bishop Sam Jacobs

The culture of Pentecost is in direct opposition to the culture of Babel.

In an address to a delegation of members of the Renewal in the Holy Spirit Movement, John Paul II said: “In our time that is so hungry for hope, make the Holy Spirit known and loved. Help bring to life that ‘culture of Pentecost’, that alone can make fruitful the civilization of love and friendly coexistence among peoples. With fervent insistence, never tire of praying, ‘Come Holy Spirit! Come! Come!’” (March 14, 2002).

What is the culture of Pentecost? To answer this, we have to look at the event of Pentecost itself. When we reflect on this mystery three terms stand out, love, proclamation and witness.

Essentially, what happened at Pentecost is what happened to Jesus on the day of his Baptism, his Pentecost. As he experienced in his humanity the enveloping and transforming love of the Father in the person of the Spirit, so too those in the upper room had a similar experiential grace. In the words of Paul: “the love of God has been poured out into our hearts through the holy Spirit that has been given to us” (Rom. 5:5). This overwhelming love of the Father has been identified as the kiss of the Father, which is the Spirit.

If the experience of God’s personal love is at the very heart of Pentecost, then the culture of Pentecost is to bring this same love to others both in word and deed, not in some superficial way, but in real, tangible and life-giving ways. What we are called to do is to bring people into the experience of God’s love for them. But that love is mediated, by God’s plan, through us. The culture of Pentecost is the love of God at the heart of our own life and the reason underlying our relationship to others. Jesus experienced in his humanity the depth and length and height of the Father’s love for him and evidenced this love to others by his words and deeds.

The second revelation of Pentecost is that, once those in the upper room experienced the infilling presence of God’s love, they proclaim the marvelous deeds of the Lord. This is exactly what the people from the various nations of the world acknowledged on that day. “We hear them speaking in our own tongues of the mighty acts of God” (Acts 2:11).

The culture of Pentecost involves proclaiming the works of the Lord. The culture of Pentecost is in direct opposition to the culture of Babel.

There the focus was not the marvelous works of the Lord but a desire to make themselves the focus. "Come, let us build ourselves a city and a tower with its top in the sky, and so make a name for ourselves" (Gen. 11:4).

By exercising authentically the gifts of the Spirit following the lead of the Spirit, we will evidence the marvelous works of God. The gift of prophecy is God's life-giving word; the gift of healing is God's power and authority over human frailty; the gifts of wisdom, knowledge and understanding are the ways of the Lord to know his truth; the gift of discernment is God's way of guiding us to follow his lead. Even though the gifts are for our sanctification and the up-building of the Body of Christ, they manifest the works of the Lord on our behalf. It is the culture of Pentecost to so proclaim these deeds of God to the world. This is what the apostles did following the example of Jesus.

The third revelation of Pentecost is witnessing the central mystery of our salvation. In the words of Peter on the day of Pentecost: "Therefore let the whole house of Israel know for certain that God has made him both Lord and Messiah, this Jesus whom you crucified" (Acts 2:36).

The culture of Pentecost involves giving testimony, again by word and deed, to the great mystery of the Lordship of Jesus Christ and to his saving redemption, especially in one's life. This is explicitly clear in the words of Paul: "For, if you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved" (Rom. 10:9).

This acknowledgment of the Lordship of Jesus is not merely a statement of fact, for Jesus is Lord in fact. But it is the reality at the heart of one's life. Jesus is the Lord and Savior of one's personal life. In the culture of Pentecost a person learns and chooses to yield everything to Jesus and to place all under his total authority and control.

This experience of God's love, this proclamation of God's mighty deeds, this personal surrender to the Lordship of Jesus are not just for the sake of the individual. God fills us anew with the person, presence and power of the Spirit in order for us to share this with others. This is the mission of Pentecost. The apostles remembered what Jesus had told them after his resurrection. "As the Father has sent me, so I send you" (Jn. 20:21).

This is the new evangelization that John Paul II frequently urged the Church to bring about. "In the first place, (this new evangelization) calls for a commitment to live the Gospel which is preached and to incarnate it in one's personal life and in the life of the community in such a way that the proclamations of the good news might be sustained by the very strength of a life of witness to the Gospel. The more (the evangelizers are such) by means of the dynamic and irresistible energy of the light and heat coming from the truth and charity of Christ, so much more will their lives witness to the Gospel they profess."

The culture of Pentecost thus involves a personal transformation as well as transformation of society through the power of the Spirit, who immerses us ever deeper into the life-giving love of God. The Spirit gives us a new awareness of the mighty deeds of God, shown in his providential plan and a deeper conviction and surrender to the Lordship of Jesus Christ.

As a result the culture of Pentecost will evidence, both in the life of the individual and in the community, the fruit of the Spirit: "love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, generosity, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control" (Gal 5:22-23). ♦

The culture of Pentecost thus involves a personal transformation as well as transformation of society through the power of the Spirit.

Bishop Sam Jacobs, former chairman of the National Service Committee, is Bishop of the Diocese of Houma-Thibodaux, Louisiana and presently serves as Chairman of the Evangelization Committee for the US Bishops.

The necessity of the Holy Spirit:

Enabling youth to live counter-culturally in the postmodern world

by Jim Beckman

In an effort to make sure we're all on the same page, I want to begin by briefly talking about what the term Postmodern actually means. It refers to an "era" of time. The "Postmodern Era", began in the early 20th Century. It was preceded by the "Modern Era" (17th Century to the early 20th Century), which was preceded by the "Pre-Modern Era" (16th Century and before). Universities devote entire semesters to studying just one of these eras. We don't have time here to delve into all the intricacies, however, it is important to look at the marking characteristics of this time we call "postmodern."

At the end of the modern era, key thinkers like Nietzsche began to question the Enlightenment, which paved the way into postmodern thinking. We were experiencing the crash of science and reason during this time—man was coming to the end of himself. The era of Postmodernism ushered in a new philosophical mindset: NOTHING was at the center of the universe: one of the marking qualities of this time we live in, and when nothing is at the center of the universe then anything goes, because nothing matters. This philosophical mindset sets the stage for moral relativism and secular humanism.

You can see the philosophical backdrop of our culture that postmodernism engenders; the ramifications of it are all around us. Recent studies have revealed that more than 90% of church-going teens do not believe in absolute moral truth (Barna Research Group). What is most striking is how drastically that figure has changed in the past 10 years. The number of believing teens who did not believe in absolute moral truth was closer to 50% in the early nineties.

What is causing this crisis of morality? We are seeing before our eyes the impact of postmodern philosophy. As each new generation is born, the effects of this become more firmly rooted. Today's teens are one of the first generations to be raised by parents who were fully immersed in postmodern thinking from their birth.

With the erosion of the true center for the universe—God, we are left grasping for straws as to what we are here for. There is no meaning or purpose for our existence, and that reality itself has had devastating effects on today's young people. John Paul II saw it coming, and from the first days of his election began reaching out to the young generation of the Church. He saw the errant philosophy and where it would take us, and his entire pontificate would be devoted to preaching the "truth" that was becoming so relative.

Pope Benedict now is speaking similarly, recognizing the emptiness of our culture and where it is taking us. He has made some striking remarks about the "dictatorship of relativism" (Pre-Conclave Homily, April, 2005). His emphasis is that the true good of society is no longer the pursuit of truth, but the pursuit of relativism itself. It seems that the only "absolute" is that nothing is absolute. Does it begin to become clear why our young people are so confused? This question brings us to the primary consideration of this article: the necessity of the move and work of the Holy Spirit in evangelizing young people today.

My thought here would be that the youth ministry we have seen over the past couple decades seems to be waning in its effectiveness. There are many approaches and techniques employed to evangelize young people, but by and large these efforts have centered around what I would call "event-driven" ministry. Retreats, conferences, rallies, etc. have been the primary conversion engines in our youth ministry efforts. And for the most part, they have been fairly effective. Over the past 15 years or so we have seen a dramatic increase of young people in attendance at evangelistic events, youth conferences and camps. Yet, with all this success, we have seen minimal increase in vocations, and recent studies such as "Soul Searching” have demonstrated a pretty dismal picture of the belief system of both Catholic and Protestant teens.

I believe that the missing element is not our ability to evangelize our young people, but rather our ability to catechize and disciple them. For years we have put great effort into events that will draw young people into an encounter with the person of Christ, and even into an encounter with the Holy Spirit. However, we have not been effective in “integrating” those encounter moments with the rest of their lives. The more immersed we become in the postmodern world, the more critical that integration is. The lack of this integration has resulted in a limping youth ministry that keeps young people hanging onto spiritual high experiences once or twice a year. The “staying” power of a youth ministry that is fostering “counter-cultural” teens is painfully absent.

How do we foster such young people? Young people who will transform the world around them simply by the way they are living their life? I propose that it is by a very intentional imparting of the gifts and power of the Holy Spirit through personal prayer. As ministers to young people, we must first draw them into the incredible gift of relational prayer, and teach them how to access the immeasurable grace that can be found there. This kind of ministry will not be done at a conference, or a weekend retreat. It can be touched on, even experienced. But it will only be fully integrated through day-in and day-out repetition. Someone needs to be walking with these young people, talking with them several times a week, processing their prayer experiences with them, gradually teaching them the subtle gifts of discernment necessary to access the deeper fruits of prayer. Want to teach a young person how to live counter-culturally? Teach them how to pray well. Teach them how to listen and discern the subtle moves of the Holy Spirit, pray over them often for a deeper outpouring of the gifts and fruits of the Holy Spirit, and invite the Holy Spirit’s work into the life of their whole family. Who better to do the work of the day-in-day-out mentoring than their own parents?!

Why is the Holy Spirit so important to this work? I would go as far as saying that without the work and move of the Holy Spirit, any youth ministry in our time will be absolutely fruitless. How could you possibly address the postmodern philosophies on your own without the clarifying revelation provided by the Holy Spirit? (Catechism of the Catholic Church #1695). How could you lead young people into prayer without the Holy Spirit, who is the source of holiness and the Master of prayer? (CCC #749). It is the Holy Spirit that will enlighten, strengthen and renew them (CCC #1695), and lead them to a life of prayer (CCC #768). We need to invite the Holy Spirit into our work with young people.

There are a number of snapshots that show where God is moving in Catholic youth ministry. Where you see vibrant youth ministry and significant conversions, I believe there are some “common threads.” Such ministry is centered on the person of Jesus and is intensely Eucharistic—young people are encountering Jesus through his real presence in the Blessed Sacrament, the ministry is rooted somehow in the local parish, the ministry is sacramental in nature and is rooted deeply in Catholic spirituality, yet open to various expressions of the gifts and charisms of the Holy Spirit. The ministry is “dynamically” orthodox, and often has a uniquely Marian aspect as well. It all really is a beautiful blend of everything

Prayer Card

For the renewing of the grace of Pentecost in the Church and in the world we pray:

“Lord, enable your servants to speak your word with all boldness, as you stretch forth your hand to heal, and signs and wonders are done through the name of your holy servant Jesus.”

Acts 4:29-30

we hold near and dear as Catholics, no one aspect overshadowing the other, and all rooted in the centrality of Jesus. I hope that the ministry I do with young people would be a reflection of this, drawing young people, one-by-one into the beautiful gift of relationship with Jesus and his Church through prayer, and the move and work of the Holy Spirit. ♦

Jim Beckman has been involved with youth ministry and evangelization of teens for more than 20 years.

Jim is the Executive Director of Impact-Center, a youth minister mentoring and consulting ministry based in Colorado.

Please pray for the following initiatives, activities and concerns of the National Service Committee:

- ◆ NSC Retreat meeting in September in Augusta
- ◆ That those who have attended the various 40th Anniversary of CCR events & Conferences will be used by God to ignite fresh enthusiasm in prayer groups, outreaches and ministries.
- ◆ That youth and young adults who have been touched by the Renewal will become active participants
- ◆ For wisdom in pastoring the Renewal into the heart of the Church
- ◆ For the newly launched Youth Ministry Committee that will be meeting in October.

Why include the NSC in your will?

As you know the National Service Committee relies almost entirely on gifts from individuals to continue its mission. We ask you to please consider a gift to the National Service Committee when you make your will or update it. Making a gift to the NSC can be as simple as adding a codicil to your existing will or estate plan.

You may use this or a similar statement: "I/we bequeath $ _____ (or % of my residual estate) to the National Service Committee of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal of the United States, Inc. P.O. Box 628, Locust Grove, VA 22508-0628."

Please let us know if you have included us in your will so that we can properly thank you.

Pour Out Your Spirit Anew

40th Anniversary Conference of the Charismatic Renewal

June 22 to 24, 2007

Photos: Sr. Mary Anne Schaezner, Tammie Stevens

by Mary Anne Schaezner, SSND

With the blowing of the shofar and a procession of flags from throughout the US and some other countries, the national celebration of 40 years of charismatic renewal in the Catholic Church began on Friday evening, June 22, at The Meadowlands Exposition Center in Secaucus, New Jersey.

Pour Out your Spirit Anew, REPANDS TON ESPRIT A NOUVEAU, DERRAMA DE NUEVO TU ESPIRITU, IPAGKALOOB MULI NINYO ANG INYOUNG SPIRITU.

With the sound of music provided by an ensemble made up of members of each language group we began a joyful and faith-filled weekend of celebration. Members of these language groups plus other charismatic organizations spent many months planning for this special 40th year celebration.

Many of the speakers have been with this renewal for nearly 40 years. They shared some memories but also called us forward to the challenge of the future. It is not time to rest.

We viewed a video of Pope Benedict at the time of the 2006 Pentecost meeting of Renewal Movements in Rome. We heard him say, "Upon all of you I invoke an outpouring of the gifts of the Holy Spirit."

Patti Mansfield reminded us of the Scripture quote from Lumen Gentium, "The love of God has been poured out into our heart by the Holy Spirit who has been poured out on us."

Bishop Sam Jacobs read the prayer of Pope John XXIII at the opening of Vatican Council II: "Renew your gifts in this our time..." He remarked that without the Holy Spirit there is no renewal of the Spirit. He went on to say that, "The Church's mission is to share Christ with the world. The Church is charismatic by its very nature. God's plan is that we are filled with the Holy Spirit. Do not interrupt the journey you have begun."

Nothing will happen apart from prayer and grace.

On Saturday morning, Vincent Synan, who has been a friend of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal almost from the beginning, re-viewed with us the history of Pentecostalism beginning with the Methodists of New Jersey in 1867, and then the beginning of the Pentecostal Charismatic Movement in 1901, Azusa Street in 1906, Neo-Pentecostalism with Dennis Bennett in 1960 and the surprise of the Spirit, the beginnings of Catholic Charismatic Renewal in 1967. At the time he asked, “How could you do this, Lord? It upsets our theology.” He was reminded of Isaiah 55: “My ways are not your ways and my thoughts are not your thoughts.”

Sr. Nancy Keller prayed, “Do it again, Lord. We want a fresh outpouring of the Holy Spirit...and more!” She proposed that the question is not, “Who is involved in the Charismatic Renewal?” but rather, “Who has been baptized in the Holy Spirit?”

Patti Mansfield urged us do everything we can to get youth involved in charismatic renewal—to get them baptized in the Holy Spirit.

We experienced a burst of Holy Spirit Power as we listened to Pablo Bayona from the Diocese of Brooklyn preach and watched him walk and run across the stage. He exhorted us, telling us that God, “wants to give you an anointing of the Spirit. Open your hearts! Don’t wait to see it. Do it! Let the power flow.” He reminded us that we can’t live next month with today’s glass of water. He urged us to apply that concept to the Holy Spirit. “Be filled again. Go on being filled! Don’t dwell in the past. Live today!”

Caroline Gambale, active in youth ministry and evangelization for fourteen years, spoke of the importance of elders mentoring the young.

Darling Previl spoke of the importance of unity and prayed, “Father, make us one!”

Walter Matthews pleaded with us to make the Holy Spirit known. We must continue to pray, “Come, Holy Spirit, Come, Come.” Pentecost is meant to transform our society. Take the culture of Pentecost and replace the culture of death. He asked, “How can we build a culture of Pentecost?” We must keep the fire alive in our lives. Go deeper in our prayer and contemplation. Deal

See Conference page 13

Proclaim his marvelous deeds

by Patti Gallagher Mansfield

As we celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal, I am more convinced than ever that personal testimony is the single most important tool we have in evangelization. Personal testimony was the way the news of baptism in the Spirit spread in the early days, long before websites and emails. One of the witnesses of the outpouring of the Spirit at Duquesne wrote to his friends using carbon copies (imagine!) and he simply said, "I have news too good to keep!" Another proclaimed, "I no longer have to believe in Pentecost. I've seen it!"

Simple words of testimony about the Lord Jesus Christ and baptism in the Spirit, delivered with love, can change the world. Testimonies have already changed the lives of 119 million Catholics in the past 40 years and there are more conversions to come if you are willing to be a witness.

While you may not be called to speak to thousands of people at one time, you will be called on a thousand times to bear witness. Your stage may be the grocery store, doctor's office, gas station or kitchen. In the years remaining to each of us, God will give us a thousand opportunities to tell others that Jesus is alive and that his love and mercy are available for the asking.

Pope John Paul II presented us with a wonderful mission as we entered this new millennium. He called on each member of the Body of Christ to get serious about holiness and about evangelization. "Put out into the deep and lower your nets for a catch!" (Lk. 5:4).

I want to challenge you to make a commitment today. Commit yourself to at least 15 minutes of personal prayer each day (work toward an hour daily if you are serious about holiness). Seek the face of Jesus. Ask Him to make you holy. Ask the Holy Spirit to use you to witness to God's love. Then commit yourself to giving your personal witness to at least one other person in this anniversary year. Just think! If each one of us brought just one other person into the Charismatic Renewal in this 40th anniversary year, there could be over 200 million Catholics baptized in the Holy Spirit!

What is your testimony? Think over your life and how it has changed for the better since you met the Lord Jesus and were baptized in the Spirit. There are usually several areas where you can see a before and an after. Consider just one aspect of your life, like your temper and notice the change. "Before I met Jesus in a personal way, I had a violent temper. Then I made a Life in the Spirit Seminar and I was baptized in the Spirit. After that I've become a more patient person and my family life is a lot happier." Another example might be your prayer life. "Before I was baptized in the Spirit, I only prayed when I needed something. Then I surrendered my life unconditionally to Jesus at a charismatic renewal retreat. After that I discovered the joy of praising God in all circumstances."

A physician friend shares this moving testimony. "Before I came to the Charismatic Conference in New Orleans, the only time I used the name of Jesus was when my lawn mower wouldn't start. Then I followed my wife to the foot of the stage for an altar call. After being prayed over that night, Jesus has become so real for me that I am now studying to become a permanent deacon and I have been on several medical mission trips."

Short, simple, sincere testimonies like that will peak the curiosity of others and get them asking questions. Be ready to "give a reason for the hope that is in you" (cf. I Peter 3:15). Be ready to issue an invitation—a "Come and See." There are Catholic charismatic prayer meetings, Life in the Spirit Seminars, bible studies, conferences and retreats where your family and friends can encounter the living Lord Jesus in the power of his Spirit, that is, if you are willing to put out into the deep of prayer and evangelization.

The Holy Spirit wants to use each one of us in some particular way to renew the face of the earth. "We are God's work of art, created in Christ Jesus, for good works, which God has prepared beforehand that we should walk in them" (Eph. 2:10). He is already preparing the hearts of those who will hear your personal testimony. Remember the mercies of the Lord toward you and then proclaim his marvelous deeds!

Adapted from her book, Proclaim His Marvelous Deeds: How to Give a Personal Testimony which is available at her website www.ccrno.org. ♦

Patti Gallagher Mansfield has been a witness around the world to the grace of baptism in the Holy Spirit. She and her husband, Al, work fulltime with the Charismatic Renewal in New Orleans.

Newsbriefs

"The whole week was a little taste of heaven for me. The prayer ministry was so needed to free us up for our continued ministry."

"This conference was everything and more than I could have expected."

"It was inspiring to experience the unity of leaders from so many countries ... It gave me hope for the future of the renewal."

"My right shoulder has had restricted motion and considerable pain for the past 10 years. ...when participants laid their hands on me I was completely healed! I can now do pushups with no pain and complete motion has been restored."

School of Healing Prayer for Leaders—A Spirit-filled event!

by Bob Canton

"I have never been one to show emotion in public and I have always carried my religion in my head and not my heart.

The Holy Spirit worked on me all week and by Friday morning, I found myself running around, kissing people!"

"This Conference clearly transformed me and changed my life so my overall evaluation is summed up by one word: Alleluia!"

These are some of the excerpts of evaluations from attendees of the School of Healing Prayer for Leaders that was held on April 30–May 5, 2007 in Jacksonville, Florida. The event, which was attended by 425 leaders of the Renewal from 42 countries, was organized by the International Catholic Charismatic Renewal Services (ICCRS), the Christian Healing Ministries (CHM) and co-sponsored by the National Service Committee.

The Most Rev. Victor Galeone, the Bishop of St. Augustine, challenged the participants during the opening Mass, "to become more effective instruments of healing." "To do this, you have to have a compassionate heart and an ear to listen to the Lord." Twenty-three priests concelebrated the daily Mass.

The main presenters of the workshop were Francis and Judith MacNutt who founded the Christian Healing Ministries. They, together with three other speakers, namely Barbara Shlemon-Ryan, Don Williams and Mike Evans covered various topics which include Why Jesus Came, Healing Our

Image of God, Physical Healing, Inner Healing, Generational Healing, Baptism in the Holy Spirit, Gifts of the Holy Spirit, Mary, Our Teacher, How To Pray For Deliverance, and Becoming a Healing Person. The MacNutts are pioneers in the charismatic healing ministry in the Catholic Church. They have published a total of eight books.

The teachings were interspersed with praise and worship sessions, testimonies on healing during the prayer sessions, and commentaries by ICCRS representatives Allan Panozza, the outgoing president, Oreste Pesare, ICCRS director, Jim Murphy, outgoing Council member representing English-speaking North and Central America and Caribbean, and Bob Canton, a newly elected Council member.

In Rome, for their annual April meeting, Archbishop

Stanislaw Rylko, President of the Pontifical Council for the Laity, addressed the ICCRS Council members saying, "I would like to congratulate you and thank you for the seminar that you have initiated in the USA on healing. The teachings of the Congregation of Doctrine and Faith reminded us that healing is in the life of the Church right from the beginning of the Church and that healing always accompanied the pronouncement of the Gospel. When the Lord announced the good news, there were always healing that followed, so these two things are organically linked."

ICCRS representatives also announced during the workshop that their Doctrinal Commission will publish a handbook entitled Guidelines on Prayer for Healing, a thorough and compelling paper on the gift of healing, sometime in the summer of 2007. ♦

Shared memories of our origins and history as a community make us initially conscious of who we are as a Church.

Photos: Gary Yon, 2002 Conference

Part One of Two

Charisms and Community Building

by Donald L. Gelpi, S.J.

In order to understand how the charisms of the Spirit build community, one needs to have some understanding of the nature of communities and how they work. All genuine human communities have analogous social dynamics.

Genuine communities can spring from faith, but they need not. They can express legitimate, natural human longings for a truly just society. Communities of faith can collaborate with groups that promote the common good for purely natural motives, because the gospel also seeks the common good and because Christians who promote the common good need all the help they can get.

Shared self-understanding creates communities. Very small communities reach an initial sense of who they are as a community through immediately shared experiences. Think of communities of friends to which you have belonged. Nuclear families also become initially aware of themselves as communities by living together on a day-to-day basis.

Communities of friends or nuclear families belong however, to larger communities, which do not and cannot grow by the direct sharing of experiences. Think of the local parish. One shares a common faith with those with whom one worships on Sundays and to that extent a common identity, but parishioners normally have little or no knowledge of the intimate details of the lives of most of the other families with whom they worship. Or think of a centuries-old, worldwide community like the universal Church, most of whose believers will never even see one another. How can community create a shared sense of identity and of purpose?

A community like the Church reaches an initial shared awareness of its identity as a community through the ministry of teachers who in an ongoing way remind its members of the events which originally created it as a community and of the history which links it to those events. Since worship of the triune God also creates the Church, such teaching takes place most frequently at the Eucharist. There every Sunday we recall together Jesus' life, ministry, death, resurrection and mission of the Pentecostal Spirit. These events create us as a community and give us our identity.

So does history, which links us to those events. Reaching a sound insight into Church history requires more than Sunday worship. It requires reading, study and religious education. The historical retrieval of the Church's roots through Christian worship and education happens in an ongoing way, generation after generation. In other words, shared memories of our origins and history as a community make us initially conscious of who we are as a Church because our history makes us the Church we have chosen to become. ▶

Communities embody everything they ought as a community when they mobilize the gifts of all members.

Conference from page 9

Are you ready for the explosion that I have prepared for you?

In order for communities to understand fully their character and purpose as a community, however, they need to do more than reach an ongoing consensus about their origins and history. They also need to reach a consensus as a community about where they are headed ultimately and proximately. In other words, the need to clarify their shared hopes.

Our ultimate hopes set our final goal as a community. As a Church, of course, we all hope ultimately for final resurrection with our risen Lord and for endless life with him in God. Our proximate hopes tell us how to reach that ultimate goal. We the Church will share risen life with Christ to the extent that we as a community dedicate our lives to proclaiming, living and creating the cause for which Jesus lived and died. He called that cause the kingdom, or reign, of God.

Shared memories and shared hopes together make communities aware of their shared identity and purpose; but, if communities did no more than clarify their histories and reach a consensus about ultimate and proximate goals, they would qualify as debating societies but not as real communities. Communities embody everything they ought as a community when they mobilize the gifts of all members in the attempt to make some of their shared, proximate goals realities.

As teachers retrieve the Church history, the Church will need discerners to help it distinguish between sound and unsound teaching. Healing and miracles accompany and confirm proclaiming the gospel. The presence of tongues in a community offers a vivid reminder of its Pentecostal origins and that Pentecost unfolds as an ongoing event in the Church. The action charisms, like pastoral leadership, care of the poor, or administration, mobilize the gifts of the whole community to live together the gospel.

In these reflections, I have been trying to suggest an important way in which the sharing of the charisms builds the Church as a community: namely, by creating the shared faith consciousness that creates the Church. ♦ with the sin in our lives. We must intercede. Nothing will happen apart from prayer and grace. We are in a spiritual battle. We intercede in the name of Jesus. We are called to live holy lives. He quoted the preface of the Mass that reminds us that in every age God raises up men and women who are holy. Holiness is both a gift, because the Holy Spirit lives in us, and a task. We must witness. We must move beyond our fear. “The Holy Spirit is upon me because he has anointed me to bring good news to the poor. We want other people to get what we have—Jesus! We must also experience a renewal of our mind. We must think with the Church.

Donald L. Gelpi, S.J.
The Jesuit School of Theology at Berkeley

Walter left us with three challenges. We are challenged to build the culture of Pentecost, of the Church. This will cost us. We must have concrete pastoral initiatives, e.g. Bishop Sam Jacobs urged us to prepare for the Jubilee celebration of 2017. What is the Lord asking of me? Those with resources must ask, “How are we raising up the next generation? How are we mentoring them? Are we willing to support people? He closed with the words of Joshua: “Be bold, be strong, for the Lord, our God is with you.”

There was much rejoicing over the journey of 40 years as well as great challenges presented, as we have not yet arrived at the end of our journey. We must press on in the power and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. At the end of the conference we were asked, through the gift of prophecy, “Are you ready for the explosion that I have prepared for you? Are you ready for the great explosion?” ♦

Order Conference tapes and videos
Contact Resurrection Communication for CD's and DVD's. The webpage is www.ResurrectionC.com or call toll free at 888-809-0267.

From the Executive Director

.....
by Walter Matthews

Zeal for souls

As I write, we are a week away from the 2007 National Catholic Charismatic Renewal Conference where we will gather to celebrate what the Lord has done among us for 40 years and to earnestly seek a fresh outpouring of the Holy Spirit: PourOut Your Spirit Anew. Based on the amount of spiritual warfare going on it should be a great conference.

Even as we have been immersed in the planning of the Conference, the NSC has not stood still: we held four Regional Leaders' Gatherings this year (in Houston, Sioux Falls, Nashville and Greensburg). The number of leaders who gathered varied from the low 30s to over 100 in Houston. The positive response was encouraging as we seek to continue to strengthen the Renewal.

We also co-sponsored with the International Catholic Charismatic Renewal Services the Francis and Judith McNutt School of Healing Prayer for Leaders. Over 400 attended from over 30 countries. (See Bob Canton's report on page 11.)

In late April Aggie Neck (along with Charles Whitehead and Peter Herbeck) were presenters at the Annual Liaison Theological Symposium and Conference. I was able to attend along with Judith Hughes of the NSC. The thrust of Herbeck's paper and presentation was the need to make clearer in the Renewal that the grace of Pentecost is not for ourselves but for others.

When seen from the context of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit in the Second Vatican Council and since, along with clear teaching of Popes Paul VI, John Paul II and now Benedict XVI, the Renewal, along with the Church, is called to be in mission.

The Church and the Renewal within it ought to be about a zeal for souls. This was what sustained the early Pentecostals formed from the Azusa Street outpouring in 1906. When divisions and other issues threatened to extinguish the fire of Pentecost lit in those days, it was the "zeal for souls" that kept them going forward.

As we go forward from this 40th anniversary celebration, the NSC will be seeking to stir up in the Renewal and in its own services a renewed missionary zeal. In Herbeck's words, "The Spirit is urging us, compelling us, empowering us through the baptism in the Spirit to live the mission of the Church."

The Service Committee, in collaboration with the Association of Diocesan Liaisons, has launched a Youth Ministry Committee to "foster openness to the work of the Holy Spirit among youth ministers" some of whom are already ministering in the power of the Spirit while others may need the release of the Holy Spirit in their lives and ministries.

The Service Committee will also be launching two new outreach initiatives later this year and next as it seeks to respond to the Lord's call to evangelize, to reach out, to build the culture of Pentecost in our Church and society.

As the Lord encouraged Joshua as he was called to lead the Israelites into the Promised Land, "Be bold, be strong" (cf. Joshua 1:6, 9). ♦

Friends of the NSC

The $40 for the 40th Anniversary Campaign to prayer groups seeking from each prayer group in the country a gift of $40 for this 40th Anniversary year has enjoyed modest success. To date we have raised over $6,000 from a limited phone call and mailing effort. About 100 groups and individual leaders have responded. But, obviously we could do much better and must do better if we are to close the NSC's 2007 budget gap of close to $40,000 without reducing staff or services.

As of this writing, we do not know what the financial results of the 2007 National Catholic Charismatic Renewal Conference held in late June will be. We hope and pray that the Lord will exceed our projected net income of $20,000. But, it always involves trust.

Our direct-mail fund raising, aside from the $40 for 40 campaign, is on target... but the gap remains.

We ask your prayer and your financial support.

If your prayer group has not yet sent in a donation for the $40 for 40 campaign please prayerfully consider doing so.

If you are one of the over 4,000 recipients of Pentecost Today who are not active donors, please consider a donation. You may visit our website at www.nsc-chariscenter.org to make an online contribution, or send a gift using the envelope in the last issue or simply mail to the address found on page 15.

If you are one of our active donors—Friends of the NSC—thank you for your support. Your summertime support will be greatly appreciated. ♦

Executive Director

Walter Matthews

Editorial Board

Fr. John Gordon

Fr. Bob Hogan, S.M.

Sr. Mary Anne Schaezner, SSND

Editor

Sr. Martha Jean McGarry

Production Manager

Jean Beers

© 2007, National Service Committee of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal of the United States, Inc. Not to be reproduced without permission.

For Your Information

This is a publication of the National Service Committee of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal of the United States, Inc. The mission of the NSC is to stir into flame the grace of Pentecost within and beyond the church, to broaden and deepen the understanding that baptism in the Holy Spirit is the Christian inheritance of all, and to strengthen the Catholic Charismatic Renewal.

The National Service Committee-Chariscenter USA is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization. Contributions to defray the cost of this publication are gratefully accepted and are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law.

Please mail to:

NSC-Chariscenter USA

PO Box 628

Locust Grove, VA 22508-0628

Tel. (540) 972-0225

www.nsc-chariscenter.org

National Service Committee members:

Aggie Neck (Chairman)

Josephine Cachia

Caroline Gambale

Fr. John Gordon

Fr. Bob Hogan, S.M.

Chuck Hornsby

Judith Hughes

Scott Kaldahl

Fr. Richard Loch

Gerry Mader

Sr. Mary Anne Schaezner, SSND

A limited amount of advertising space is available. For information call Jean Beers, (360) 730-1740. Advertisements for events not sponsored by the National Service Committee do not imply endorsement by the NSC/Chariscenter USA.

What we have seen and heard

.....
by Sr. Mary Anne Schaezner

Make room for something new!

Once again we hear the words, "Behold, I am doing a new thing. Do you not perceive it?"

After 40 years of charismatic renewal in the Catholic Church what is the new thing that God is doing?

One group among whom the Holy Spirit is moving is youth and young adults. We were encouraged to see the young people who attended the November 2006 Leaders' Conference in Albuquerque. We were encouraged by the number of youth who attended the June 2007 National Conference in New Jersey. In fact, the tent overflowed. Do we need to heed more closely the words from Isaiah 54:2 "to enlarge the space of your tent"?

We heard that witness is important and that youth might respond better to testimony than to teaching. We are called to reach out beyond ourselves, beyond the people who go to the prayer meeting with us. We are called to allow the gifts of the Spirit to operate in our daily lives. We are called to offer our gifts to the church at large.

We are called to travel light—both physically and spiritually. What baggage are we carrying that we really don't need? What is really important to us? What are we ready to let go of if necessary?

We are called to enter into and live with a new sense of hope. We are called to offer hope to our youth.

We are hearing that the Holy Spirit is moving among people of all cultures. It is love of the Holy Spirit that unites us. We are called to unity, not to separation.

We hear that over 100 million Catholics have been baptized in the Holy Spirit.

We hear emphasis on the importance of the number 40 in Biblical terms—40 days of flood, Moses' 40 years in the desert, Jesus' 40 days in the desert, etc.

Now charismatic renewal is 40 years in the Spirit and we celebrated it with this most recent National Conference with the title, "Pour Out Your Spirit Anew." We can ask ourselves what that will mean. Can we expect that the Lord will do more of that with which we are already familiar? But we hear the words, "Behold, I am doing a new thing." Every day is new. Every circumstance has newness. Are we open to how the Spirit wants to work in this particular situation in which we find ourselves? Do we expect a certain routine to our ministering? Do we think that we need to have a memorized set of words for every occasion? Or do we ask to be open to the new experience, the new situation, the new need? Do we bring the heart of Christ into that setting? Do we pray, "Show me how you want to use me."

Let us ask God to show us how to see the new work of the Spirit in our day and to refresh us for the work of the Kingdom. Come, Holy Spirit! ♦

ADDRESS SERVICE REQUESTED

Published by the National Service Committee of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal of the United States, Inc.

Charismatic PILGRIMAGE to the Shrines of MEXICO

FAMILY

Six days

Friday, February 29–Wednesday, March 5, 2008

with licensed tour guide

$950, Airfare additional with Continental Airlines or airline of choice. Passport required.

$50 early bird discount through September 30 with deposit of $300.

Mexico City - Shrine & Basilica of Our Lady of Guadalupe

Ocotlan – Shrine of Our Lady of Ocotlan & Chapel of Mary

Puebla – 16th Century “City of Churches”

Tlaxcala – The Healing Well of San Miguel Del Milagro (Shrine of St. Michael the Archangel)

Teotihuacan – The Pyramids of the Sun & Moon

The Floating Gardens of Xochimilco

Las Plaza De La Tres Culturas (The Plaza of Three Cultures)

Fr. John Gordon, pilgrimage leader.

Celebrations of Mass,
Prayer,
The rosary,
Healing service,
Renewal of Baptismal vows,
Special blessing,
Teaching.

Santiago Apostol Church (Baptismal site of St. Juan Diego)

Call 1-800-338-2445 or visit www.nsc-chariscenter.org.

Airfare information: JMS Travel
281-416-9700

HERITAGE